10.1 Emergency services

The access seeker's customers have access, free of charge, to emergency services through emergency communications which are handled by the most appropriate PSAP.

Proximus provides the transmission of the network-based caller location information free of charge, to the most appropriate PSAP while using roaming services.

Provided the handset is compatible with the AML location solution in roaming, the Handset Derived Location information of the roaming customer will be transmitted to the most appropriate PSAP.

At this moment there is no European solution for the transmission of the AML Handset Location information in case of VoLTE roaming. As soon as a European temporary or long-term solution is agreed, Proximus will investigate the implementation of this solution.

The access seeker's roaming customers can access emergency services free of charge by calling the single European emergency number '112'.

Next to this, the Belgian regulator BIPT determined some local emergency services accessible to the access seeker's roaming customers in Belgium. This information has been listed in following databases developed by BEREC in accordance with article 16 of the roaming regulation 2022/612.
