I Important

Take time to read this user manual before you use your telephone. It contains important information and notes regarding operating your telephone.

I.1 Power requirements

- This product requires an electrical supply of 220–240 volts, alternating monophased power, excluding IT installations defined in standard EN 60-950. In case of power failure, the communication can be lost.
- The electrical network is classified as hazardous according to criteria in the standard EN 60-950. The only way to power down this product is to unplug the power supply unit from the electrical outlet. Ensure the electrical outlet is located close to the apparatus and is always easily accessible.
- The voltage on the network is classified as TNV-3 (Telecommunication Network Voltages), as defined in the standard EN 60-950.

Warning

- This equipment is not designed to make emergency calls in the event of a power failure. An alternative has to be made available to allow emergency calls.
- High voltage. Never open the product or attempt any repair.
- Keep the product away from liquid.
- Never use any battery type other than the one supplied. There is a risk of explosion if the batteries are replaced by an incorrect type.
- When the phone is ringing avoid holding the earpiece too close to your ear as it may damage your hearing.
- Do not use the product in places where there are explosive hazards.
- Do not let small metal objects come into contact with the product. This can deteriorate audio quality and damage the product.

- Handsfree activation could suddenly increase the volume in the earpiece to a very high level: make sure the handset is not too close to your ear.
- Refer also to the Cautions in chapters and subchapter sections.

I.2 Using GAP standard compliance

The GAP standard guarantees that all DECT GAP handsets and base stations comply with a minimum operating standard irrespective of their make. Your handset and base station are GAP compliant, which means the minimum guaranteed functions are: register a handset, take the line, receive a call and dial.

The advanced features may not be available if you use another handset than a Twist 408 with your base station. To register and use your Twist 408 handset with a GAP standard base station of a different make, first follow the procedure described in the manufacturer's instructions, then follow the procedure described on page 23.

To register a handset of another make to the Twist 408 base station, place the base station into registration mode, then follow the procedure in the manufacturer's instructions.

1.3 Recycling and disposal

Disposal instructions for old products

Inform yourself about the local separate collection system for electrical and electronic products marked by this symbol:

Use one of the following disposal options:

- In order to avoid the dissemination of those substances in our environment and to diminish the pressure on the natural resources, we encourage you to use the appropriate take-back systems. Those systems will reuse or recycle most of the materials of your end life equipment in a sound way.
- The crossed-bin symbol invites you to use those systems.
